

WHEELER DISABLED!

OUR OLD VETERAN FIGHTER TOO SICK TO STAND ON HIS FEET, IS CARRIED INTO BATTLE ON A LITTER.

American Loss 500 in Killed and Wounded.

Shafter Sends His Official Report and asks for Surgeons.

Near Santiago, July 2.—(Special).—The Americans after a furious fight all day yesterday drove the Spaniards into Santiago. The battle lasted from early in the morning until sundown.

More than four hundred Americans fell, killed or wounded, but Gen. Shafter reports that comparatively few were killed.

The Spaniards stood their ground for five hours, but could not longer withstand the determined attack of the Americans, and began leaving their intrenchments.

Shafter's Official Report of Yesterday's Great Fight.

Washington, July 2.—(Special).—Dispatches from the front make it about certain our troops will enter Santiago to-night or Sunday.

The following official report was received at 1 a. m. from Gen. Shafter:

"Siboney, July 1.—Had a very heavy engagement to-day which lasted from 8 a. m. until sundown. We have carried their outer works and are now in possession of them: There is now about three-fourths of a mile of open country between my lines and the city. By morning troops will be entrenched and considerable augmentation of forces will be there. Gen. Lawton's division and Gen. Bates' brigade, which have been engaged all day in carrying El Caney, which was accomplished at 4 p. m., will be in line and in front of Santiago during the night. I regret to say that our casualties will be above 400. Of these not many are killed. SHAFTER."

Morro Castle was ruined. The fight will be renewed this morning. Watson's squadron will not be sent to Spain until the fall of Santiago. It may be ten days before he is ready to sail.

More Doctors Are Wanted.

'Surgeons Can't Handle the Wounded.

Washington, July 2.—(Special).—The War Department at ten o'clock this morning received a dispatch from Gen. Shafter that leads to fears that he has under-estimated our loss. He says he must have a fully equipped hospital ship immediately, with additional medical officers and supplies, also a launch.

A Hospital Ship Sails

With Stores and Nurses.

New York, July 2.—(Special).—The hospital ship Relief sailed this morning for Santiago with stores, provisions and trained nurses.

Blockade Runners Nabbed.

Towed to Key West Harbor.

Key West, July 2.—(Special).—Two prizes were brought in this morning. One was the British steamer Benit Batenger, formerly a Spanish vessel. The other was a Spanish smock. Both were captured while trying to run the blockade with supplies for Blanco.

One Vessel Turns Back.

Does Not Enter the Canal.

London, July 2.—(Special).—A Port Said dispatch to Lloyd's says the Spanish torpedo boat Proserpine, of Camara's squadron, has gone to sea.

It is stated that the occupation of San Juan heights opens the way to Morro Castle and does it to that capture.

BATTLE IN DETAIL.

Yesterday's Conflict Graphically Described.

The Forces That Were Engaged and Plans for the Fight To-Day.

Santiago, July 2.—(Special).—It was with difficulty that the commanding officers restrained the ardor of our troops until the hour for beginning the attack came. The enthusiasm of the American forces was intense, and their spirits quickly spread to the Cuban troops.

Two batteries of light artillery, acting under orders from Shafter, who went to the front at the head of the troops, began the battle by attacking Caney. From this village a direct road leads into Santiago.

Gen. "Joe" Wheeler, with a detachment of the cavalry command, and Gen. Garcia, with his Cuban troops, quickly joined Gen. Lawton's men in the advance upon Caney. The Spaniards for a time fought desperately to prevent Caney from falling into the hands of our forces. It was a vain effort.

They boldly faced the enemy's fire, holding their ground tenaciously and pressing forward whenever an opportunity to gain an advantageous footing presented itself.

Brig. Gen. Kent, who commands the center of the general line of attack, started the Twenty-third regiment of infantry toward Aguadores at the same hour Gen. Lawton's men advanced toward Caney.

Upon these troops fell the brunt of the battle to the southeast of Santiago during the early hours of the day. Gen. Kent sustained the heaviest loss of the engagement.

There was desperate fighting about Aguadores. Acting under orders from Gen. Linares, the Spaniards at that point returned the American fire with a fury that aroused in our men the fiercest determination.

In their operations about Aguadores the Americans were greatly encouraged by the work of the fleet, which poured a heavy fire into the lines of the Spaniards.

Admiral Sampson ordered the New York, Gloucester and Suwanee to attack the batteries recently placed to the east of Morro. The vessels engaged the batteries at short range and left only the scarred hillsides to show where the batteries had been located.

The Forces Engaged.

On the right at El Caney now is Gen. H. W. Lawton, with three brigades, the First, under Col. J. J. Vanhorn commanding the Eighth, Twenty-second infantry and the Second Massachusetts volunteers, Col. E. P. Clark commanding.

The Second brigade is composed of the First, Fourth and Twenty-fifth infantry. The Third brigade, under Gen. A. R. Chaffee, is composed of the Seventh, Twelfth and Seventeenth infantry.

Gen. Joseph Wheeler, with four light batteries, is strung out in the rear of Lawton's division. Gen. S. B. M. Young is attached to Gen. Wheeler's command. His cavalry force is dismounted and is composed of eight troops of the First cavalry, eight troops of the Third, eighth troops of the Sixth, eight troops of the Ninth and eight troops of the Tenth.

The Center Column.

On the left of Lawton, in the center, resting on the second crossing of the river Guama, just back of Sevilla, and moving toward Aguadores is a force composed of the First brigade, under Gen. H. S. Hawkins, with the Sixteenth and Sixth infantry; the Seventy-first New York volunteers, under Col. Wallace Downs; the Second brigade, Col. Pierson, commanding, Second infantry, Tenth infantry, Twenty-first infantry, Third brigade, Col. Worth commanding—Ninth, Thirteenth and Twenty-fourth infantry.

Gen. Bates has the Thirty-third Michigan, Col. Charles L. Boynton commanding.

BALLOON OBSERVATIONS.

Successful Trial of Gen. Greely's Big War Balloon.

Washington, July 2.—(Special).—The trial of the war balloon at Santiago yesterday was entirely successful.

Gen. Greely, chief signal officer, sent a complete balloon train with Gen. Shafter's expedition, and the balloon was used to make observations by Gen. Shafter.

The balloon is of the latest make, and contains, when inflated, 17,000 cubic feet of gas. The complete equipment of gas-making machine and apparatus for filling the balloon accompanied the train. An experienced aeronaut, a major in the signal service, has the balloon train in charge. It is said observations were taken at several thousand feet, the balloon being anchored within the American lines, with continuous communication between the balloon and the ground by means of a telephonic adjustment. These balloon observations are in vogue with foreign military bodies. This is the first successful application of this system in this country.

SEVERAL MONTHS

Before the Democrats Are In Complete Control of the Prisons.

Frankfort, Ky., July 2.—(Special).—There was a general exodus of candidates and their friends leaving Frankfort yesterday. The members of the Board of Commissioners left on early trains. The board has given notice that it will not elect officers until the inventory of the penitentiaries is completed.

The whole slate is now changed, but Ed McGrath, of Covington, and George Cattell, of Lyon, are said to be sure winners for deputies. Morton Swango, of Wolfe, is being tipped for clerk at Eddyville.

The Commissioners say that guards will be selected gradually, and it will be several months before all are installed.

Will Soon Change Their Tune.

Madrid, July 2.—(Special).—The efforts of the peace party have stiffened the back bone of the war party, whose cry is now "no surrender."

It appears that letting slip the dogs of war has reduced the size of "growlers."

Thermometer is Now at 106 in Shade.

Details Now Coming in of Our Dead and Wounded.

Washington, July 2.—1 p. m.—(Special).—It is now thought the loss in yesterday's battle was probably 100 killed and 500 or 600 wounded on the American side.

Shells from the Spanish ships in the bay did heavy execution.

Sylvester Scovell, the New York Journal's correspondent, reports one hundred wounded carried past him up to 2 o'clock p. m.

A Guantanamo Courier reports El Caney captured, Aguadores fallen and the fall of Santiago only a question of hours.

Shafter moved on Santiago at an early hour this morning.

Fighting Joe Wheeler Very Ill.

Gen. Joe Wheeler was too ill to stand on his feet and went with his command carried on a litter, advancing with his men when told the battle was won.

Fifteen Cubans Wounded.

Fifteen Cubans in the valley before El Paso were wounded by one Spanish shell.

Pando's Reinforcement Arrived.

Plaza Del Este, July 2.—1:30 p. m.—Special.—Spanish General Pando, with 500 reinforcements for Gen. Linares, arrived from Manzanillo this morning and has made his way into Santiago, after disposing of 800 Cubans who tried to check him. The little band of Cuban patriots made a gallant stand against overwhelming odds, but were overpowered and driven back.

At 2 o'clock nothing had been received from Gen. Shafter about the fighting to-day.

Surgeon Steets has ordered the naval hospital ship Solace to go to Shafter until the Relief arrives.

A London Correspondent says certain well known Spanish agents there say a great surprise awaits the Americans when they enter Santiago. That the principal streets are mined.

Eddie McDuffee lowered the World's mile record on a bicycle at Boston, making a mile in 1:34 2-5, three-fifths of a second faster than the Platts-Betts record.

The battle of Santiago was begun on a date made forever historic by the battles of Gettysburg and Vicksburg in 1863. If history is to repeat itself, Gen. Shafter has until to-morrow to complete the victory.

Germany should not forget to remember that Great Britain in Europe, the United States in America and Japan in Asia have come to an understanding. Germany may bluster but she cannot bluff.

Col. Wood and Lieut. Col. Roosevelt, of the Rough Riders, are already on the President's list for promotion to the rank of Brigadier General, the first time an opportunity presents itself.

The Breckinridge News and Morganfield Sun of this week came out with "old glory" printed in colors on their front pages. They are pioneers in this class of journalistic enterprise among the weekly papers of the State.

The KENTUCKIAN does not stand on the plank in the Henderson platform opposing the annexation of territory wrested from Spain. All the same, we do not propose to bolt because we do not endorse it all. The KENTUCKIAN is the first paper in the district to hoist Henry Allen's name.

The people of Hopkinsville are waking up to the realization that they have a newspaper in their midst. A dozen new subscribers, and a gratifying increase in the street sales were among the direct results of the way yesterday's battle report was handled by the KENTUCKIAN and put on the streets in twenty minutes after "30" was received.

TOBIAS HOBSON, OF "HOBSON'S CHOICE" FAME

All over the country the papers have been ringing the changes on "Hobson's choice," springing, of course, from contortion acts to find some jocular connection between that venerable adage and the dashing deed of Lieutenant Richmond Pearson Hobson, of Alabama, in sinking the Merrimac and bottling Cervera's fleet in Santiago.

Both the Hobsons are immortal now. The first famous Hobson, of blessed adage memory, was a noted character in the university town of Cambridge, England. This antique Tobias Hobson, flourished in the reign of King James I., says the New York Mail and Express. He ran a coach line to and from London, and, in addition to this, is said to have been the grandfather of the lively stable business. He kept forty horses for horse hire, but being gifted with human instincts that would raise him to-day to the presidency of the S. P. C. A., Uncle Hobson made it a rule that all horses should be let in turn. There was no "playing favorites" in his barn. Each new customer had to take the horse that stood nearest the stable door. "That or none" was the old man's ultimatum.

Now, as Tobias had a stable monopoly, this limited range of preference passed into the adage of "Hobson's choice," and has been doing steady duty in the world of maxims these 350 years. Tobias, rest his bones, died in 1630 at the commendable age of 86, and was honorably buried in the chancel of St. Benet church.

As to our modern heroic Hobson, let it be hoped his name and fame will have an equally long run in history. It certainly will while the Anglo-Saxon race lives to embalm deeds of conspicuous daring in war. There is no parallel whatever to be drawn between Hobson the first and Hobson the second, because of the elements of bravery and patriotic sacrifice that enter into the Lieutenant's record. It was "that or nothing," in his brave judgment, to fix the Donas; but the poor, bottled Donas hadn't even the choice granted to the venerable customers of Tobias.

Her Name Won't Be Fluid.

From the Burlington Gazette.
A Missouri belle named Maud is to marry a man named Clay. This shows that she is progressive, anyhow.

HE CROWDED HIM.

How George Secured Her Father's Consent to Her Marriage.

"You say that George is going to marry Mabel Brown?"
"That's right."
"But how on earth did he get the old man's consent?"
"He worked it beautifully. You know the old man is pretty green on the wheel, and as nervous as a tea-guzzling old maid. He's reached that stage where he is dead afraid somebody will run into him, and—well, George took advantage of it. He waited until he could catch the old man alone in the park, and then he came up alongside of him. The old man almost tumbled off when George spoke to him, but he made a brave attempt at a bluff. 'Excuse me,' said George, 'for breaking in upon the pleasure of your ride, but I have some business of importance to transact with you.'"
"I never talk business when I'm cycling," said the old man, with his eyes firmly glued to the front wheel.
"Oh, don't you?" said George, as he sheered in towards him.
"What?" said the old man, with a violent wobble. "What do you want?"
"I want to marry your daughter!" said George.
"What?" roared the old man. "Well, you don't—keep away, darn you!" for George was again crowding him.
"I love her," said George, "and she loves me."
"Nonsense!" snorted the old man.
"That's said George, and pushed up a little closer.
"Go way, you idiot!" howled the old man, "or you'll have me in the ditch!"
"That George crowded him still closer.
"Then I have your consent?" he asked.
"No—yes—get away—you may have her—pull out!" bellowed the old man, in a agony of terror.
"Thank you," cried George, with a howl of delight, and rode away full tilt to carry the good news to Mabel."

WIVES AS PROPERTY.

Polygamy as It is Practiced in Parts of Africa.

One of the problems of civilized man is how to live with a wife. The question that worries the Pondo is how to get along with only one. It seems to him a condition of abject poverty. When, however, he can afford the luxury of three or four wives, he is fairly assured of success in life, and with half a dozen he is rolling in wealth. The explanation of this paradox is simple: Whereas civilized man is supposed to support his wife, the Pondo leaves to his women folk the privilege of supporting him. This shows that a savage is not necessarily a fool. Mr. James O'Haire, missionary of the Catholic church in Umata, explains the working of the system in a letter. "Polygamy," says he, "is the very life's support of the Pondo; the number of wives a man has settles the question as to his previous wealth, for each wife was bought, and for her he must have paid from eight to 30 oxen; and now his wealth may be estimated by the number of wives and children, because the whole affair may be simply described as natural human farming. Each daughter is worth, say, ten oxen; if she is well built and pretty, she may sell for 40; then, too, the sons work in the care of cattle, for the whole Kalir property consists in cattle. The wives work, and so do the daughters. But the head of the family, the man, works no more after marriage. The 'dignity of labor' is so noble a thing that one cannot but admire the complete self-abnegation of the polygamous Pondos in leaving it all to their females. And yet the absence of work does not seem to prey upon their spirits. 'They are as happy as the day is long; they all smoke tobacco and drink beer, and eat meat and beef, or the flesh of wild animals or wild birds. They sleep a great deal, and then rise and laugh and sing and dance, and play and work a little, and are without a solitary care, without sadness or sorrow.'"
—South Africa.

A Furlough Defined.

"What is a furlough?" asked a Columbus (O.) teacher.
"It means a mule," was the reply of Mary.
"Oh, no," replied the teacher; "it doesn't mean a mule."
"Indeed it does!" said Mary. "I have a book at home that says so."
"Well," said the teacher, now thoroughly interested, "you may bring the book to school and we'll see about it."
The next day Mary brought the book, and in some triumph opened to a page where there was a picture of a soldier standing beside a mule. Below the picture were the words: "Going Home on His Furlough."—Chicago Journal.

A JULY AVALANCHE.

An Ice Man's Serious Accident While Driving His Wagon.

Knocked From His Seat by Sliding Ice and Very Badly Hurt by the Fall.

Kelly Ransom, the colored driver of one of the Ellis Ice Company's big ice wagons, came very near being killed yesterday morning by a peculiar accident. He was on the ice wagon when one of the large 100 pound blocks slipped off the pile and knocked the driver from his seat. He was thrown violently to the ground and very badly injured. A deep and severe gash was made on his head that may be very slow to heal. Dr. Eager was sent for and rendered surgical aid. Ransom is still laid up and will be for some time.

It will be a handsome new style brick building, of pressed brick, and will be an ornament to the city of Russellville. The fact that Forbes & Bro. will do the work is sufficient guaranty that the building will be put up and finished off in first class style.

A Cruel Father Fined.

Sam Winders, a Guthrie man, was tried in the city court this morning on a charge to which humane people must stand aghast, says the Clarksville Leaf-Chronicle.

Winders came to town yesterday and loaded up on bad whiskey. He was on his way home, and as he neared West Fork, without provocation he began beating his little six-year-old boy with a horse whip. The beating was unmerciful, and the child's back was one solid spot of bruises. The man, at one time, while whipping the child had a rope around the boy's neck. Winders was tried on two charges and Judge Bailey fined him $104.

Three Hundred Feet Deeper.

A depth of one thousand feet having been reached in the borings at the oil well a new contract was entered into the first of the week in which contractor Chapman and men agree to drill three hundred feet deeper in quest of the much coveted oil. Although no oil or gas has been reached it is possible that at any time success may crown the efforts of the company. Meantime the final result is anxiously awaited.—Uniontown Telegram.

Bully for Julius.

SERGEANT FELAND.

Company D's Late Captain Enlists in An Ohio Company.

Becomes a Non-Commissioned Officer from Another State.—Will Fight for His Country.

The following interesting batch of news items from Chickamauga are taken from the Enquirer of yesterday:

In the absence of Colonel Smith, who is saying another farewell to his family in Bowling Green, Lieutenant Colonel Jovett Henry is in command of the Third Kentucky.

The Third received 31 recruits from Paducah to-day. Only 42 more are needed.

Major J. C. Bryant is ill with malarial fever at his home in Lexington. He left here on a five days' leave last Saturday night. To-day the leave was extended seven days.

John Feland, Jr., of Hopkinsville, ex-Captain of the Latham Light Guards, to-day enlisted in the First Illinois Cavalry, and was made First Sergeant of Troop H.

The First is the busiest regiment in Camp Thomas. Colonel Castleman has them doing everything imaginary. Colonel Castleman is under the impression that he will be ordered to move on July 5. This is based on the fact that to-morrow the regiment will draw only five days' rations instead of 10, as heretofore.

There is a rumor in camp to-night that the 15 regiments of the First Corps are to be marched to Savannah, a distance of 360 miles.

The Kentucky Cavalry will be fully supplied with horses to-morrow. From Lexington to-night there arrived 160 head, purchased by Captain Swigert in the Blue Grass country. They were a fine lot.

ATTEMPTED ARSON.

A Firebug Makes an Effort to Burn a Store.

An Attempt to Burn The Country Storehouse of Lee King Frustrated Just in Time.

An attempt was made to burn the general merchandise store of Lee B. King, at Pon, Ky., on Thursday night. In a shed room adjoining the store there was a barrel of litter of a very combustible nature, some firebug slipped into the shed and set fire to this barrel. It blazed up and the light at once attracted the attention of Mr. King in his room near the store.

He rushed out just in time to extinguish the fire and save the store. The firebug escaped without being recognized.

FRITION AT CAMP ALGER.

A Southern Soldier Reported for Refusing to Salute a Colored Officer.

Washington, July 2.—(Special.)—There are four companies of colored troops at Camp Alger and several white regiments from the Southern States, including one from Tennessee. The colored men are from Ohio. Their commander is Maj. Young, a lieutenant in the 10th cavalry, and the only colored officer in the regular army. Some of the Southerners have shown a disposition at times to express their contempt for the colored boys, but the latter have minded their business and have avoided encounters with diplomatic skill. The other day, however, one of the officers of the colored battalion was standing at a sutler's booth on the "Midway," when a private from one of the Tennessee regiments came up to the counter and inquired for something. The colored officer waited a few minutes, and then, turning to the private remarked: "Were you not taught to salute your officers when you meet them?" "I didn't notice that you were an officer," growled the Tennessean. "Don't you know an officer's uniform when you see it?"

"All coons look alike to me," remarked the Tennessean, with a sneer, and walked off. The colored officer inquired his name and reported him for disrespect. The question now arises whether the Tennesseans will have the moral courage to court-martial and punish a white man for disrespect to a negro. It is a serious problem.
